Southern Africa: Zimbabwe is expanding South-South Cooperation with Namibia

WFP Zimbabwe hosted a delegation from the Government of Namibia and the WFP Namibia Country Office in February, as they undertook a “look-and-learn mission” to see how different WFP programmes are being implemented.

It was led by the Namibian Permanent Secretary, Mr. I-Ben Nashandi from the Ministry of Poverty Eradication and Social Welfare. He expressed interest in learning about best practices related to WFP’s “SCOPE” Platform and integrated beneficiary management systems at WFP Zimbabwe.

The delegation met with the WFP CO management and learned about “SCOPE” as a transacting platform and its potential for an integrated beneficiary management system. Site visits were conducted to showcase WFP activities in action. The delegation also interacted with different communities in the Rushinga region where successful community assets have been created to withstand climatic shocks.

“WFP Zimbabwe is supporting the Government of Zimbabwe in developing innovative ways to improve resilience in communities and social protection programmes, including through pioneering platforms like SCOPE” said WFP Country Representative and Director, Mr. Eddie Rowe. He highlighted the benefits of South-South cooperation to inspire change in this area across countries.

The cooperation between Namibia’s Ministry of Poverty Eradication and Social Welfare and Zimbabwe’s Ministry of Labour and Social Welfare will soon be strengthened through a Memorandum of Understanding under the existing Namibia-Zimbabwe Joint Commission.

Western Africa : Regional Mapping of South-South cooperation opportunities

One of RBD's ongoing initiatives on South-South cooperation in the West Africa region is a regional mapping of South-South opportunities. The mapping captures country demands in areas such as school meals, social protection and safety nets, empowerment of smallholder farmers, nutrition and emergency preparedness. These country demands are then matched against possible South-South partners and their technologies, national models, expertise and technical assistance, which can help to address those gaps. The aim is to provide Country Offices with a practical overview of collaboration opportunities that they can use to broker South-South cooperation more systematically within West Africa when designing their CSPs and iCSPs.

The mapping, which is supported by OSZ, builds on a series of consultations with selected Country Offices as well as with RBD Heads of Units. It also includes opportunities scoped through the engagement with WFP Centres of Excellence in China and Brazil. Upon completion of the mapping in July 2017, RBD COs will be able to incorporate the most relevant SSC opportunities into their CSPs. This initiative has been inspired by a RBJ-OSZ project in 2017, when a regional South-South mapping was developed for the first time in WFP for the Southern Africa region. For further information contact, William.Affif@wfp.org and Miranda.Sende@wfp.org RBD, or Carola.Kennigott@wfp.org in OSZ.

New tool to support WFP Country Offices: "Pointers for South-South cooperation" for your CSP design!

Are you looking to incorporate South-South opportunities more systematically into the design of your CSP? Is your government approaching you for help in connecting them with other Southern partners to tackle a specific hunger challenge or to share their own innovations? Then this announcement will be of interest to you: WFP CO and RB can tap into the support of OSZ's global SSC team when seeking to incorporate South-South opportunities in the design of their CSP. Through a simple desk review and drawing on WFP's global "pool of SSC solutions". The SSC focal point in Rome can help you to identify options for SSC to address the needs and gaps identified in the Strategic Review and to help implement your CSP Strategic Outcome Areas by tapping into the support from other countries. The "SSC pointers" is a 2-3 page overview of SSC opportunities tailored to your line of sight which you may find helpful for CSP design. For a reference examples of existing SSC pointers or to learn more, you can contact Carola.Kennigott@wfp.org in OSZ.
